Conference Attendees

The Rotary World Peace Conference 2020 attendees will include more than 2000 of the top leaders and decision makers in business, government, school administration, public safety, health care, religious orders and dispute resolution. These leaders will come from not only Southern California, but also across the United States and around the world.

The conference will bring together experts in conflict prevention and resolution to provide solutions that are being used successfully in each of thirteen tracks of training over two days. There will be five Plenary Sessions during the two days and eight sessions per track of training. This will provide attendees and sponsors an opportunity for interaction in over 100 sessions.

The breakout sessions will be a combination of presentations with Q&A, panel discussions, as well as facilitated discussions with leaders and experts. At the end of the second day, the attendees will leave with a plan of action to apply in their lives and communities. They will have solutions to save our children from sex trafficking, suicide and more.

Information exchange will be possible in the House of Friendship, where sponsors, exhibitors, businesses and non-profit organizations will be able to meet in a more open environment with tables and booths. Sponsors are encouraged to share information, brochures, and gifts in an attendee bag.
